

To Whom It May Concern:

I was allowed to attend the National League for Nursing Education Summit in September 2005 in Baltimore MD. Along with another colleague, we attended 3 wonderful days of up to date information in the Nursing Educational field. We visited Technologies displays and interacted with many educational representatives who were very informative on technology being used in the class room to help improve student success. It was amazing to see the use of technology and how one can become stale and undated. Through the use of these advances we can reach and retain more students. I highly suggest the use of the Star Center at the facilities in helping meet these advances. The staff/faculty are so helpful and eager to help you learn.
